What are the similarities and differences in solving ...

Differences between equations and inequalities: Equations have a set final amount, and iniquities have a range of answers. When you solve an equation, you get the only answer that it can have. For example, if you solved and got $x=5$, then x has to equal 5. There are not multiple solutions.

Difference Between Linear Equations & Linear Inequalities ...

One obvious difference between linear equations and inequalities is the solution set. A linear equation of two variables can have more than one solution. For instance, with $x = 2y + 3$, $(5, 1)$, $(3, 0)$ and $(1, -1)$ are all solutions to the equation. In each pair, x is the first value and y is the second value.
